CALCUTTA, INDIA, Feb 18, 1886 (Address Auckland, New Zealand, care of Postmaster)

DEAR INTERIOR:—As we shall be on the "briny deep" for 9 days, at least, and there are a few more items of considerable interest, that I don't wish to pass over entirely.
I have concluded to send you another "last letter from India."

After writing my other "last," our kind friend, Mr. Fred May, a merchant of the city, who is an old resident, and best of chaperones—because he takes such genuine delight in showing strangers everything of interest in his pet Calcutta—took us in hand one day, and in a single round, made us acquainted with many things that will greatly intensify in future days, the pleasant memories of our visit here.

Our first step was to ascend the "Ochter-lony monument" and get a grand "bird's eye view" of the great city. This memorial of the gallant General, who fell in the Dacca Dacoa Campaign against the Ghorries, is quite after the pattern of the "monument" new London bridge and remains one of it. From the raised top, a charming panoramic prospect of Calcutta can be obtained. The "bird's eye view" of any place, is the best sight to carry away in one's memory.

Then we paid a second visit to 33 Chowringhee Road, where Macaulay compiled his "Indian Code" under which Hindustan is still governed; and wrote his immortal essays on "Warren Hastings" and "Malcolm's Life of Clive," that will exercise the same fascination over readers of future generations as over this. The building—substantial as it was when he resided there—has fallen into prosaic use; being now occupied by the "Bengal Club." But let my reader, if even familiar with the inimitable papers mentioned, just re-peruse them; or, if they are yet a rich literary treat in store for others who have never enjoyed them; let me ask them to give themselves the exquisite pleasure of a first perusal; and then understand a little of the interest I had in visiting the place where they were penned. The brilliant essayist must have gathered inspiration for his themes, as he looked out from his library, over the broad maiden (park); with "Fort William" frowning to his left; "Government House" to the right and the broad Hooghly with its fringe of tall masts linking the two.

Our next point of observation was the excellent museum, with its well arranged stores of Indian curiosities. The imposing structure built by the government for their reception—also on Chowringhee road—is about the first object that strikes the eye in approaching the city from the river.

In the Cathedral, the chief attraction is the fine statue of Bishop Heber, in marble.
The good prelate is represented as kneeling; facing the altar though far back in the central aisle, and his noble face—so full of power and repose—is all that one could wish, for in seeing, for the first time, the effigy of the writer of "From Greenlands Icy Mountains." Beyond this, I can not go, in praising this charming work of art.
For myself, who have seen the statues from childhood with so much delight; to have seen, in the gifted author, a mean or insignificant figure, would have been a shock not easily recovered from. I am glad his statue more than equals my ideal—which was of the loftiest character. One is so often disappointed in this line, that it is refreshing to be satisfied for once.

Then we visited the "Old Cemetery," the like of which for antiquity, and prodigious monuments one will not easily find.
The fancy of the first settlers, in erecting memorials for their dead, seems to have been of an exaggerated type—chiefly pyramids, and running to extravagant height.
Our cemeteries have a few pretentious shafts, shooting up among those of humbler appearance. In the "Old Cemetery," the entire space is studded, thickly as they oc-cure, with mighty monuments, as if each stood for a Major General or a Judge, at least. Our search through the puzzling uniformity of time, stained tombs, was at last rewarded by finding the towering pyramid of brick and mortar over the honored remains of Sir William Jones, the great Oriental scholar, died 1792, in early manhood; but accomplishing much in brief time what others of meager mould would wily accomplish in three-score and ten.

Then we went to the house where Thackerey was born, a most interesting spot; on one of the back streets parallel with Chowringhee Road, now occupied by an American orphanage school. Very little altered from the place that witnessed the birth of the genial and gifted novelist, who has given most of us so much pleasure in reading what few pens but his (perhaps none) could write.

The sun was blazing hot, but we were fairly protected in our garb (carriage) and persevered in taking a long ride up Circular Road, which I shall never regret.

It terminated at Lilly Cottage, where 32 years ago I visited Father Le Croix, the best preacher of his time in Bangalore. By a singular "irony of fate" his house was at-terwards occupied by Keshub Chunder Sen, the founder of the Brahmo Somaj, or the advanced heathenism of present Bengal thought. This Theistic teacher of a God without an "Incarnation" lived, taught, died was buried on the old mission premises.
His unpretending chapel in rear of the dwelling house has accommodation for only a few dozens of hearers (I should think 50 would crowd in) and the elevated platform where he played rabbi to his admiring scholars has not been used since his death. His most promising pupil teaches in the same room, but from a lower seat in the synagogue. The great pundit's pulpit is kept covered with fresh flowers. His simple marble tomb is a plain shaft eight or ten feet high, with name and dates of birth and death and a sentence quoted from one of his lectures, something like this, if it be not verbatim:

"This little bud has taken its long flight—whither, I know not." A creed almost like Col. Ingersoll's. Alas, what better one can be framed where Christ is not!
When will men, Jew or Gentile, learn that "God manifest in the flesh"—and even the "sinner's friend," is the only one who can fill the aching void. K. C. S. is the highest climber among the heathen, without an Incarnate Savior—perhaps the highest of all that ilk; but his life is a dreary failure, as all lives are foredoomed to be that begin not in the Jesus—"made sin for us." He has some fine children, but none inher-iting his undoubted genius. His sons received us cordially, comely lads, just springing into young manhood. His daughter married the Rajah of Cooh Esbar, one of India's kingly, and has a "sweet face," in her photograph. K. C. S.'s portrait in oil by a French artist, hangs in the sitting-room, a striking face and full of thought and character, as well as handsome withal.
A typical Bengalee, of the better sort.

Our next visit was to the old Loll Bazar Baptist Mission Chapel. There we saw the very baptistry where good Jackson's conscience drove him to the "watery grave" our deep water brethren find such peace and rest in. It is a quaint old place, with a black marble table to the right of the high pulpit bearing the honored names of the glorious triumvirate "Carey, Marshman, Ward," than whom no better men have ever lived or died in India.

IN MEMORIAM.

"Mrs. Stuart is dead!" the patient, joy-ing wife, the fond, devoted mother, the faithful sister, the thoughtful friend, the good neighbor, the christian woman, is dead! In reading the life of the most famous of the world's women, nothing is so impressive as the story of its close.

The last sickness of Mrs. Stuart was brief, she was under the treatment of a physician but five days, yet she endured her suffering with so much fortitude, that the loved ones who watched every movement and anticipated every wish could not realize that she was so soon to leave them; and death came so quickly, so gently, that she did not say "Good Night" to earth, but, at the early dawn of that Sabbath, so long to be remembered by the stricken household—Mrs. Stuart, in a brighter climate, said "Good Morning" to the loved ones—father, mother, two sisters and three children, who were waiting for her. Of her, it can be truthfully said: "She hath done what she could," and "tho' resting in the cold embrace of death, her influence will live on; what Mrs. Stuart was to her family can not be put into words. The husband, the six daughters and three sons will miss her at early dawn, all through the day, and even more as the shades of night come on, when they were all wont to gather in "mother's room," and relate the pleasant story, the harmless jokes, and speak of plans for the morrow.

The subject of this tribute was born in Woodford county in 1834—Miss Mary Alexander married Mr. Wm Stuart in 1858, had lived twenty-seven years in the house where she died, and she will be greatly missed by the neighborhood and community as well as by her family. Mr. Stuart was for several years a leading merchant in Crab Orchard, but circumstances brought about by the war, reversed him, as others, and he met with reverse. Tho' he never had to sacrifice his home and paternal acres, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart have, by dint of industry, frugality and economy, been able to give their children a good education. The mother leaves five daughters well versed in book lore, and domestic frugality. She has, indeed, been a help meet, and to her husband, in this, his darkest hour, I would say: 'You will often feel the invisible presence of "Mary." She will come with a slow and noiseless foot step, she will take the vacant chair, and as she lays her gentle hand in yours, she will pleadingly say, "watch over these dear children with more than a father's care, be to their father and mother and God will give you strength." To the children, that spirit voice says: "Be kind to your father, minister to his every want, before it has ever been expressed; with your combined efforts be home so attractive to him, that he will be contented and happy." To husband and children, the departed wife and mother would whisper:

Be resigned,
Bear up, bear on, the end shall tell The dear Lord ordereth all things well.
A FRIEND.

Refuting a Slanderous Imputation.

Chairman J. E. Lynn has addressed the following letter to the Somerset Reporter, which fully explains itself:

STANFORD, Apr. 12.—In your paper of the 8th inst., I find that you make use of this language in reference to my action in declaring the result of the recent District Primary election:

"In direct violation of the resolution under which he was acting Mr. Lynn was absent when the vote was to be counted and deputized another who neglected or refused to attend to it at the proper time, and the vote was not counted until Monday evening, when the report from Russell was received; and we suppose the vote never would have been counted if that report had not been received."

This contains such a false and slanderous imputation upon my conduct and intentions in what I did that I can not permit it to be passed by in silence. It is true that the resolution of the committee directed that I should compare the vote and declare the result of the election on the second Saturday in March. This, however, every member of the committee and every honest man will admit was simply directory and was not intended to require that I should at all hazards and in every contingency declare the result on that day. The plain facts of the case are that on the 23 Saturday in March and for several days preceding I was sick and was not able to leave my house. On this account I, on Saturday morning, wrote a note to Mr.
Walton, Secretary of the District Committee, asking him if the returns were in from all the counties of the district, to make the count and declare the result in my name as Chairman of the District Committee.

When Saturday came I was informed that the returns were found to be in from all the counties except Russell, as the mail facilities from that county to this place were inconvenient. The Secretary, very properly, as I think, concluded that it was right to wait a reasonable time for these returns to come in before declaring the result.
From the well-known character of the Chairman of the Russell County Committee, for honesty and promptness we have every reason to believe that he attended to his duty and that the delay was caused by the mails. From my knowledge of the character of both Mr. Waddle and Mr. Warren I was satisfied that neither of them would accept a nomination based upon such a technicality as a mere delay in the delivery of a mail. For this reason I approved the action of the Secretary when I came to town on Monday and found how matters stood. The official returns from Russell county came in on Monday by mail. This is a true copy of them:

"In pursuance of the action or order of the Democratic District Committee of the 8th Judicial District made November 20th, 1885, a primary election was held in the county of Russell on the second Saturday in March, 1886, when in the precincts, Jno.
S. Van Winkle, candidate for Circuit Judge, received 176 votes.

James W. Alcorn, candidate for Circuit Judge, received 67 votes.

R. C. Warren, candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney, received 187 votes.

O. H. Waddle, candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney, received 55 votes.

As Chairman of the Democratic Committee for Russell county, I certify that the above is the vote cast in Russell county for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney at the democratic primary election held in said county on the second Saturday in March, 1886. W. S. STONE, Chairman Democratic Committee for Russell county."

The returns were that day compared and they showed that Mr. Warren had a majority of 59 votes in the district and the result was so declared. I believe that I acted as all honest men would require me to act. Yours Respectfully, J. E. LYNN, Chairman Democratic Committee of the 8th Judicial District.

C. P. Huntington is the most successful railroad builder in the world. He never trusts on agents to make a contract for him, but attends to the minutest detail himself.
He never constructs a road until he has personally inspected the territory through which it is to be built. Before he embarked in the Chesapeake & Ohio enterprise he crossed the rugged Alleghenies on foot, unmindful of snakes, and navigated turgid New River in a canoe, unmindful of its rapids. He satisfied himself of the resources of the country and the practicability of the enterprise. Then he went to work and spent his money judiciously. In that lies the secret of his success. —[Louisville Times.

The Chicago Tribune estimates that the strike has cost the Gould lines $2,200,000 in gross revenue, $300,000 in damage in railroad property, and $200,000 expended for detectives, guards, etc. The strikers are estimated to have lost $500,000 in wages, and 6,000 high priced men have been temporarily thrown out of employment.

Would it not be better and cheaper to establish a whipping-post in each county and have the whipping done at home, than to send the poor devil to the convict mines and have him thrashed daily? Which of the two is better, the cheaper and the most human? —[Madisonville Times.

There are one billion dollars' worth of incredible. —[Danville Breeze

There is great difficulty in getting at the merits of the strike which began in Texas and has resulted in bloodshed and car-burnings in East St. Louis. Those most anxious to know the exact truth are unable to reach it. The prevalent public opinion is that the strike was not warranted, depends wholly upon the unpopularity of Mr. Gould, and has been horribly managed.
And if the trains are running as usual, as officially reported, what sense is there in going on with the fuss? There is no compensation, moral or material, for the folly of fighting a lost battle. —[Cincinnati Com-

THE remarkable tissue of falsehoods and misrepresentations contained in the last issue of the Somerset Reporter would have been noticed in our Tuesday's paper, but for the fact that we did not reach home from a western trip till a late hour Monday night. We are loth to think the writer has deliberately and with malice aforethought gone into the business of falsifying and for charity's sake we will attribute his statements more to ignorance and stupidity than to design. So far as the article reflects on us for failure to declare the nominee for Chairman Lynn on the Saturday named by the Committee, it is effectively answered by Mr. Lynn in a letter to the editor of the Reporter, a copy of which appears elsewhere in this issue. The returns were not all in that day and confident that no honorable and fair-minded man would want a nomination obtained by a technicality and by the disfranchisement of the people of a whole county, we waited for Mr. Lynn and the returns from Russell before doing the work delegated by him as chairman to us as secretary. Mr. Lynn had sufficiently recovered from his illness, however, by Monday and the Russell returns arriving by mail that day he examined them and those from the other counties and finding Mr. Warren the winner by 50 votes, declared him the nominee, in person and over his own signature. This is all there is of that and the returns are here to show the correctness of the vote as declared. We can not believe that Mr. Waddle would have accepted the nomination declared on Saturday and the Reporter will find it hard to convince his friends here that he would.

The Reporter professes to believe that "Mr. Warren is not honestly and fairly the nominee, because Webb precinct, in Russell county, reported to have given Warren 53 and Waddle nothing, has never been reported officially by the officers of election of that precinct, the poll books and ballot box was never returned and we have positive information of very suspicious conduct about it which we may yet have to mention." We have no information whatever that there was any irregularity about Webb's precinct. The returns from Russell county were sent to the District chairman properly certified by the county chairman, Judge W. S. Stone, and as he is a gentleman of known honesty and fairness, we presume that he did his duty in the premises properly and impartially. If the Reporter knows aught against Judge Stone's conduct in the matter, let it blurt it out and cease to deal in insinuations and innuendo.

In regard to the charge that Mr. Warren used money and whisky to secure his nomination, we are authorized by him to say that it is false in toto and we know him well enough to pronounce the charge a base calumny. We do not doubt that the friends of each of the candidates used both money and whisky, but that it was at the suggestion or connivance of either candidate we do not hesitate to deny. The assertion that $500 was raised in Stanford to buy whisky and negro votes at Kings Mountain and Aliceton is on a par with the other statements. We happen to know that less than $50 was raised here, in the absence and without the knowledge of Mr. Warren, and that amount was sent to Waynesburg to be used in a legitimate way to get out the vote and where it is a notorious fact that whisky can not be obtained or used. Mr. Warren had no worker at Kings Mountain and there is no voting place at Aliceton, so that slander goes with the rest.

We nail the statement as a lie and defy the Reporter to give the name of a single Stanford democrat of the number that it claims swore publicly when they thought Mr. Waddle was the nominee that they would spend their last dollar to defeat him. In the first place it was never conceded that Mr. Waddle had won and in the second we can state without fear of contradiction, that no democrat here would have failed to give him, had he been nominated, that warm support they now claim is due his successful competitor. We are not that kind of democrats, but yield a cheerful submission to the will of the majority expressed at the polls and vote for the nominee whether he is our choice or somebody else's. Name your men, Rucker, or acknowledge that you are either mistaken yourself or are trying to mislead others for a purpose.

Continuing its false charges the Reporter says that Lincoln county defeated Hon. J. S. Chrisman in 1874, because he was a mountain man, when the poll books of that election show that Chrisman's majority in the county was 163—greater than that of any other man on the democratic ticket but Judge Owsley, and nearly up to the average democratic majority in the county in every year since, notwithstanding the large negro vote from the Southern railroad in the year named. In this election Mr. Warren not only worked but contributed liberally of his means as he should to help elect the man who had beaten him for the nomination.

THERE can be no doubt that we can see that Mr. Warren has been fairly elected and nominated and it behooves all good democrats to give him the support he so richly deserves at the hands of the party he has served both in victory and defeat. He has made a faithful officer, and the course of the Reporter surely can not be endorsed by the democrats of the county. If primary elections or any other agreed plan of settling the claims of candidates are to be disregarded by the friends of the defeated candidate and every obstacle thrown in the way of his successful competitor, such preliminary steps are a delusion and a snare, and no man or set of men should go in there who are unwilling to accept the result in a manly and cheerful spirit.

By precipitating a collision with the lawful authorities at East St. Louis, thereby causing bloodshed, and by resorting to that weapon of the coward and the assassin, the torch, by which much valuable property was destroyed, the strikers have driven away even that small amount of remaining sympathy entertained for them by the discerning public. Starting in ill-advisedly, the knights have allowed themselves to be led by blatherskites and agitators, who are supported in their idleness only when stirring up discord, and their cause has steadily been injured. In great contrast with the sober and conservative utterances of Grand Master Powderly are the pratings of such men as Irons, Bleesert, et al, and if the wise counsels of the former had prevailed every detail would have been satisfactorily arranged by now. If the knights ever succeed in accomplishing any good for themselves, they will have to kill off a hundred or so of their false leaders and listen only to such men as Powderly. The public generally sympathize with every legal and peaceful effort of labor to ameliorate its condition, but when it assumes to stop the running of roads by force, either through destruction of property, interference with switches, intimidation of men willing to work, or what not, it must be taught a lesson by the government, even if the resort is to the bullet and bayonet.

THE Louisville Times is severe, and justly so we think, on Congressman Willis for the part he has played in the Louisville postoffice matter. Although she has notoriously run it in the interest of the republican party, Mr. Willis has urged Mrs. Thompson's reappointment for a third term, but the President listened not to his entreaties. The paper says: "Mr. Willis has forfeited his claim to be so much as suspected of democracy and thrown himself upon the Campbellite Church and the republican party for 'vindication.' Mr. Beck has erected another stump in the hard road he has to hoe to the Senate. Cleveland has endeared himself to the true democracy of Louisville and Kentucky. Let the wheel go round and round." Col. John G. Roach, a true democrat and a business man, will take Mrs. Thompson's place in a few days.

THE result of the municipal election in Lexington shows conclusively that the arch disorganizer, who the better succeeds in his work by claiming to be a democrat, the Hon. James H. Mulligan, is not so all powerful as he and his misled friends imagined. A lot of so-called democrats and designing republicans, nominated him for Mayor on a ticket of their own choosing, and the entire kettle was defeated by majorities ranging from 199 to 2,334. Mayor Johnson downed Mr. Mulligan by 269. One over-smart republican claimed that the disaffection in the democratic ranks beginning there would sweep the entire State and land his rotten party in power, but his prophetic spasm was only the workings of a disordered imagination, and it was not worth quoting.

THE current issue of Harper's Weekly contains a most excellent article on the labor strikes, which it would be well for every so-called knight to read and profit by. It condemns the union of any body of men to interfere unlawfully with the rights and property of others, and says that "The demands of the Knights of Labor to supersede lawful government; to dictate to every man what he shall do with his own; to permit all great enterprises to be prosecuted only as they shall choose, will not be tolerated in a free country by a free people." The laboring men are digging a pit in which to bury themselves.

JUDGE BECKNER and several other aspiring gentlemen in and out of the Legislature, have issued a call for a meeting at Louisville on the 28th of this month to devise the ways and means to secure the passage of the Blair bill which provides aid for education from the Federal treasury. It is a pity that men claiming to be democrats should lend their aid in furthering a republican scheme to raid upon the public purse, but the desire to go in for the old flag and an appropriation seems stronger with some than their professed love of party.

WE have received from the Standard Publishing Company, of Cincinnati, a handsomely bound copy of the biography of Judge Richard Reid by his loving wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Jameson Reid. It tells in modest words the story of his pure and valuable life, the cruel assault which drove him to his death and contains extracts from letters and newspapers which pay the highest tribute to his memory. Among the letters are touching ones from Col. W. G. Welch, Mrs. Welch and others of this place.

THE Senate has passed a resolution to adjourn April 16, 1887, but if it means it for a joke they will find that the people think it much too serious a matter for levity, especially when they are paying $1,000 per day and practically receiving no benefit from the Legislature. It strikes us that even joking over a corpse would be much funnier than this attempt at the funny business.

THE Glasgow Times sees one advantage in the enactment of the bill to parole convicts. It will lessen the self-imposed task that our present Executive seems to have shouldered, of turning out of the penitentiary all of that class of criminals incarcerated for the very worst crimes.

GOULD laughs at the threat of the knights to boycott him. It does look more like a joke than anything else.

SENATOR H. E. JACKSON, the newly appointed judge to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge Bixter, seems almost as much a man of destiny as President Cleveland. Five years ago, he was an humble member of the Legislature of his State, when he was unexpectedly chosen to be U. S. Senator as a compromise candidate and now he goes into a fat government office for life. He is, however, said to be worthy of all the honors thrust upon him and to be a lawyer of fine attainments.

TWENTY-ONE years ago Wednesday J. Wilkes Booth shot Abraham Lincoln as he sat in Ford's Theatre at Washington enjoying the rendition of "Our American Cousin." Nearly a quarter of a century since that tragic night! How few of us can realize the rapid flight of time, except by retrospection. And yet those years have been fraught with stirring events sufficiently to have marked a century.

BORN factions voted for Mat Walton for re-election as recorder of Lexington and his vote ran up to 2,174. The fact that he had no opposition shows how highly he is held in the estimation of the people of his adopted home and his friends in this section are proud of it.

MR. R. W. KNORR, leading editorial writer of the Courier Journal, is presenting some unanswerable arguments against the educational subsidy bill, with which the republicans are trying with the aid of democrats to siphon $7,000,000 from the national treasury.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

—The Senate adjourned because F. M. Allison, an ex-member from Muhlenberg, died.

—A bill has passed the House providing for flood gates for mill dams on Green river in the counties of Lincoln and Casey.

—The House has passed a bill to charter the Junction City and Danville Turnpike Company in Lincoln and Boyle counties.

—The Senate has passed with amendment the House bill repealing Chap. 1,445, of act to prohibit liquor selling in Laurel, Rockcastle, Owsley, Clay and Jackson.

—In the Senate the bill relating to blank-books for inferior courts was passed. It requires counties to pay for these books, which have heretofore been paid for by the State.

—Col. Phil Thompson says the new revenue bill will bring more revenue than the State needs. Mr. Jackson thinks it will raise the State Assessment from $400,000,000 to $550,000,000 or $600,000,000.

—The House passed the Revenue Bill by a vote of 56 to 28. The bill fixes the rate of taxation for State revenue at 47 cents, and banks are required to pay 75 cents on the $100 of capital stock, and in addition thereto a tax shall be levied on all the surplus over ten per cent. of the capital stock, at the same rate as is levied upon real estate, which tax shall be in full of all tax—county, State and municipal.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

—Barnum's circus will be at Lexington on May 22.

—Thaddeus Fairbanks, the great scale manufacturer, is dead at St. Johnsbury, Vt., aged 90.

—Of the 598 bags of mail matter that sank with the Steamer Oregon 256 have been recovered.

—Three Chesapeake & Ohio railroad engineers were drowned in New River at Sunny Side, W. Va.

—Judge Howell E. Jackson has tendered to the Senate his resignation as a member of that body.

—The House has refused to seat Frank Hurd. Gen. Wolford was the only Kentuckian to vote against him.

—Eleven hooded Aldermen of the Board of 1884 have been bagged by the New York police, leaving but one yet to be arrested.

—Maj. Gen. J. M. Schofield has assumed command of the Military Division of the Atlantic to succeed the late Gen. Hancock.

—By the explosion of a separator in a creamery at Elkhorn, Wis., a man was killed, a boy fatally injured, and several men injured.

—Nicholasville will have a hanging today. A negro boy, who killed his stepfather, will suffer the extreme penalty for the crime.

—The Senate has unanimously concurred in the House measure prohibiting the working of convicts in the coal mines of this State.

—Ten firemen perished in a burning mill at Lawrence, Mass., by the falling of the roof, on which they had stationed themselves to fight the flames.

—The House Committee on Agriculture and Manufactures reported adversely on the bill to establish a Bureau of Agriculture and Labor Statistics.

—At Grand Lodge, Mich., John Moore shot his divorced wife in the shoulder. Pursued by a mob, he put a pistol to his temple and blew out his brains.

—Young Farris, who shot to death Steve Richardson, colored, at Shawhan Station, Bourbon county, has been held over to Circuit Court without bail.

—Mr. O'Neill, of Pennsylvania, asked leave of the House to have printed in the Record a protest from manufacturers representing 47,000 workmen in all the States against a reduction of the tariff.

—Owensboro, by the largest vote ever polled in that city, voted an increase of 20 per cent. ad valorem tax for the erection of school buildings. There were 941 votes cast for the proposition and 6 against it.

—Advices from Nashville are to the effect that Gov. Bites has decided upon the man whom he will appoint to succeed Judge Jackson in the Senate, but declines to give his name. Gen. Whitthorne is thought to be the lucky man, but there are hundreds of aspiring statesmen praying for the lightning to strike them.

—Pleasant B. Johnson has been appointed postmaster at Berea, Madison county, upon Gov. McCreary's recommendation. Philip B. Spence has been appointed postmaster at Newport, vice Mrs. Rias, term expired.

—At a meeting of the business men of Louisville, Monday night, it was determined to build the Louisville Southern road, the money to be raised by subscription. If it is built the probability is that it will go Danville.

—The strike at St. Louis is virtually over and the Missouri Pacific is doing more business than during the corresponding period of any year. The work is done principally by new men and the strikers are out in the cold.

—Mr. Morrison in the House, reported the tariff bill. The bill will be called up for discussion about the first of May, and will probably run for several weeks. Already about forty names are on the Speaker's list for speeches on the bill.

—A Somerset dispatch says: Six men accused of complicity in the murder of Ben Wilson on Indian Creek, on April 1, were brought here by six citizens of that neighborhood, who had armed themselves and captured the men near the scene of the murder.

—Reports from Knox county are to the effect that Dick Baker and his son James, of Knox county, were killed at Flat Lick Wednesday, and Daniel Baker mortally wounded by Elliott Baker and a man named Ferguson. An old law suit was the cause of the affair.

—The ninth annual meeting of the Kentucky Pharmaceutical Association will be held at Bowling Green May 5th. Special rates will be had on the railroads and at the hotels. For other information apply to Wm. H. Turner, local secretary, Bowling Green, or Jas. T. Cooke, recording secretary, Harrodsburg.

—The United States Treasurer has prepared statements showing that the net gold coin and bullion in the Treasury April 10 was $153,320,858, an increase of $97,242,263 since July 31 last. Also that the amount of standard silver dollars in circulation April 10, out of a total coinage of $229,946,121, was $52,264,306.

—St. Cloud and Sauk Rapids, Minnesota, were struck by a disastrous hurricane Wednesday. The path of the storm at St. Cloud was 600 yards wide, and between 150 and 100 houses were blown down. It is reported that fifteen persons were killed in each town; twenty five were wounded at St. Cloud and twenty at Sauk Rapids.

I HAVE just received a fine line of spring goods. Come and see them. S. H. Shanks.

SPLENDID spring weather has prevailed all week and vegetation is whooping itself.

METCALF & FOSTER have just received the nicest and cheapest chamber sets ever brought here before. They are elegant.

OUR old stand-by on the fruit question tells us that the apples, cherries and pears were very materially injured by the heavy frosts of last week and the rather slim prospect for a good crop of them is greatly diminished.

MR. JOHN BLAIN has bought of Mayor E. H. Burnside 12 acres of unimproved land about a mile from town on the Danville Pike for $1,200 and will build a nice residence on it. We are glad that when Mr. Blain's term of honorable official service shall end, he will still remain one of us.

A big lot of Ziegler's fine shoes just received at S. H. Shanks.

THE young people will enjoy a little hop at the Opera House to-night, after the lecture.

ONE CENT.—Send your name on a postal card to Sharpe & Middleton, Louisville, Ky., and obtain a copy of the handsome illustrated Dry Goods Catalogue ever given away.

WE are greatly crowded this time for space, but shall make the loss of reading matter up by printing one or more double issues next week and keeping it up during the press of advertising.

WE have placed all our notes and accounts in the hands of P. M. McRoberts, attorney, for collection, with positive instructions to sue at the first term of court. We can't wait always. You will save cost by attending to this at once. Bright & Curran.

THE L. & N. is making every preparation for the contemplated change of gauge next month. It is said that the change will cost $300,000, a pretty heavy tax on its earnings, but likely to be made up in a few years in the saving of freight handlers and hoist men.

COL. SWORE telegraphs that he will be on hand to-night without fail. The church will no doubt be crowded to hear his lecture for the reasons that it will be a literary treat, the gentleman is very popular at his old home and the money, all of which goes to the Ladies' Aid Society, is to assist the building of a baptistry. Admission only 25 cents.

THE Senate having concurred in the House bill authorizing the people of Lincoln county to vote on prohibition, it is now a law and the fighters of the whisky traffic can now put on their war paint for a severe battle with the arch fiend. The bill prohibiting the sale of liquors within two miles of Pleasant Point church has also been made the law.

NEARLY all of the brandy being shipped from Russell county, is, we are told by Gauger G. H. McKinney, subject to seizure for irregularity. On some of the stamps the names of the makers of the brandy and that of the store-keeper and gauger are omitted and the Captain tells us he is ordered to hold all such packages till they are legally marked. The officers down there might do well to read up in the law on the subject.

A FELLOW who gave his name as Morrison was here this week claiming to be a Methodist preacher traveling under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. He offered to hold a protracted meeting for Mr. Pollette, but he did not care to engage him, so he offered his services to the colored brethren. On the understanding that he was to preach several nights, he held one service and succeeded in taking up a collection of several dollars of the hard earned money of the poor people. That seems to have been all he was after, for he left between two suns and has not been seen here since.

JUDGE OWSLEY held a special term of his Court here yesterday to finish up some business left over at the late term. The Pulaski Court begins next Monday.

MISS ELLA SNILEY and Cynthia Carson have returned from the cities with a splendid stock of spring and summer millinery, which they invite the ladies to call and examine.

THE Cincinnati Southern is again running on time, the waters having subsided and the slide in Emory tunnel having been cleared away. It was reported here that Kings Mountain had fallen in, but the rumor no doubt grew from the caving of the first.

THE opera, Amor, will be rendered here on Friday night, 30th, by 25 of the best vocalists of Harrodsburg. It was given there some time ago and was highly complimented by all who heard it. The company comes in the interest of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church and they will no doubt work up a full house.

THE Lancaster News of yesterday contained a sensational charge against Dr. R. C. Morgan, formerly of this place, by a beautiful German girl of 18, Miss Lena Ogilvie by name, who lives at Mr. W. A. Hiett's. She says she went to the doctor's to have a tooth extracted, when he began hugging and kissing her, and taking other liberties, which she attempted to prevent. He finally pulled the tooth, but refused to charge for it and when she started to put on her wraps, he again began to hug and kiss. The doctor denies the whole story except that he pulled the tooth and the girl's own statement shows that she made no attempt to raise an alarm and was in no special hurry to rid herself of her amorous admirer.

MARRIAGES.

—Henry C. Dye and Miss Mary Routen were married at Mr. Brent Barnett's last night by Rev. J. M. Bruce.

—Sherman Hall, a Somerset school teacher, sneaked off to Texas the day he was to marry Miss Mary Campbell and her big brothers want to work him with a horse whip.

—Mr. W. D. Snow, of this county, was married a few days ago to Miss Viola Cole, of Cumberland county. The combination in names is calculated to make one feel cool, to say the least.

—The marriage of Miss Nina Moulton, of New York, to Baron Van Raaben, who is said to be the richest nobleman in Denmark, was solemnized in St. Paul's American church at Rome, April 8th.

—Frank Allen and Mattie McCarty, runaway lovers from Pendleton county, Ky., were chased by the girl's father to Chilo, O., where they were married in a skiff in the river, while the old man stood on the bank with a shotgun swearing dreadfully.

RELIGIOUS.

—Sam Jones preached in Louisville Monday night and raised $4,000 for the Holcombe Mission.

—There are more than 200 exclusively religious newspapers published in the United States and Canada, says an exchange, and the best authorities agree that the combined circulation of these is about 2,800,000.

—Mrs. Ann Mercer, of Philadelphia, has left an estate valued at $400,000 to establish a home for clergymen of the Presbyterian faith, who are decayed by age or disabled by infirmity and who do not use tobacco in any shape or form.

—The Bryant Station Baptist church is Fayette will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary next Saturday and Sunday. A remarkable fact connected with it is that in all that 100 years the church has had but two pastors, Ambrose Dudley and his son, Thomas P. Dudley, who is still living, very old and entirely blind.

—The annual report of the First Presbyterian church to the Presbytery, for the year ending in March, was read by the pastor of the congregation on last Sabbath. Contributions to home and foreign missions and other benevolent work amounted to $1,069.10; congregational and other expenses to $3,930.90, making a total of $5,000. Adding to this a recent donation of one of its members to an educational institution of the church of $5,000, the entire contribution of the church for the year was $10,000. [Danville Advocate.]

—Mr. H. N. Ware writes: Our meeting at Rowland, conducted by Elders Livingston and Collier is progressing finely. We have fine audiences and the best order and have had up to this writing 26 additions. All invited to come and hear.

STALLIONS FOR 1886.

—The Combined Stallion—

Prince Denmark!

Foaled May 3, 1880. Is a dark brown with small star; 16 hands high; extra heavy mane and tail, symmetrical in form, with superior style, both in harness and under saddle. He was sired by the noble Sumpter Denmark, he by Goddard's Denmark, he by Geisias & Cromwell's Denmark, he by the race horse Denmark, he by imported Hedgehog, 1st dam by Miller's Denmark, he by the race horse Denmark, his dam by Floride, 2d dam by Montgomery's Oliver, 3d dam by old Dragoon. Breeders will take notice that Prince possesses more Denmark blood than any other stallion now in the stud, which all first-class horsemen will acknowledge has produced more first-class saddle and combined stock than any other known in Kentucky. Has proven himself an excellent breeder.

WALLACE DENMARK.

Foaled May 1, 1879. Is a rich mahogany bay, 15 1/2 hands high, heavy mane and tail, is strictly fine and fancy, in both a natural and pleasant saddle, breeds fancy, and a more uniform breeder of saddlers can not be found; has never produced a single colt but what has shown saddle action naturally, giving the blue-tie colt every year in the stud. He is high-tail style on both sides to the third generation, is backed up by thoroughbreds on both sides, making him very active and sprightly in gait, in form and finish a perfect model. Was sired by Sumpter Denmark, the sire of Prince Denmark, (as given above), 1st dam by Sir Albert, (thoroughbred), 2d dam by Virginia (dam of Virginia by Trumbly, thoroughbred), he by the celebrated Mason's Whip; 3d dam a Whip mare.

The above horses will make the season of 1886 at my farm, 3 1/2 miles from Hustonville, near Carpenter's station, and will be permitted to serve mares at $10 the season or $12 50 to insure a living colt. Mares committed to my care and breeding will receive my personal attention. Grass furnished at reasonable rates, to be paid for before the removal of mares. No responsibility for accidents or seeps. Parting with mares forfeits the insurance.
